Dear Mr. Cardinal:

Under current directives, you are now eligible for assignment to a Reduced Priority Selection Group.

Upon assignment to a Reduced Priority Selection Group, you will be eligible for classification into Class 1-H. For your information, Class 1-H is a holding classification for registrants not currently subject to processing for induction. As a member of a Reduced Priority Selection Group, there is very little possibility of your being considered for induction in the future except in the event of a national emergency.

Should you have any questions concerning this, please contact this local board.
